

As Dreams Go By

A Film by Luca Dicorato

As Dreams Go By

TRT: 24 minutes

Camera: Canon C100

LOGLINE

These are four loosely connected episodes about loneliness and the plight of ageing in London. A widower observing life from his balcony; an Italian widow feeding the birds in a park; an eccentric loner with a passion for collecting coins, and a caring husband attending his bedridden wife. These snippets of apparently non-meaningful lives are constructed with the intent to highlight that each random passerby is living a life as vivid and complex as our own.

DIRECTOR BIO

Italian born Luca Dicorato has recently received his MA in Documentary by Practice from the Royal Holloway University of London where he studied under the supervision of renowned British filmmaker Marc Isaacs. After a multitude of jobs Luca found his passion in filmmaking, and in particular in the field of documentary. His interests is not in life's events, but rather in the effects that events have on people's life.
